

TALK OF THE TURF.

"Snapper" Garrison Appears Confident of Tammany's Ability to Win.

REED'S HORSES GONE WEST.

All Save Annie Bishop, Which Has Been Purchased by Henry Warnke.

"Snapper" Garrison seems to have unbounded confidence in the ability of Tammany to defeat Lamplighter. He certainly should have a good estimate of this grand colt's powers, for he has ridden him in nearly all his races, and is therefore in the best position to judge. Garrison is betting right and left on the son of Ironhorse. A few days ago he bet "Rismack" Korn $2,000 on the result, and yesterday he bet $2,000 with Sol Lichtenstein that Tammany would be first past the finish. Garrison's admirers will, of course, feel gratified at Garrison's confidence in his mount, but at the same time this betting business is likely to get the jockey in trouble, for he is violating one of the rules of the Board of Control. Garrison claims that inasmuch as the race is to be run on a track outside the jurisdiction of the Board of Control, it makes no difference. He is, however, the holder of a license from the Board of Control, and is therefore amenable to its rules. The rule prohibiting jockeys from betting is a poor one, for it cannot be enforced. There are other jockeys than Garrison engaged in betting on races.

The reinstatement of the telegraph wires at Gravesend has led, it is said, to an amicable arrangement among the four racing associations in New Jersey. Linden and Elizabeth, it is reported on good authority, will each get two days free of opposition. No official announcement of this arrangement has been made, and but little faith can be placed in rumors, which are certainly very contradictory.

Wyndham Walden has returned to the Morris farm in Maryland. He will ship back several maidens for the Morris Park meeting.

Tammany has been shifted over to Gravesend from Sheepshead Bay. He worked a mile and a quarter in 2:12 at the former place yesterday.

Simon G. Reed's horses, Lucky Dog, Broke and others, have been shipped back to California. Annie Bishop was left behind for Henry Warnke, that gentleman having purchased her for $8,000. Annie Bishop is a three-year-old daughter of Sir Modred, out of Miss-Me-Quick. She was owned by C. H. White.

The Coney Island Jockey Club will hold its annual meeting at the Sheepshead Bay track on Oct. 2. In addition to electing directors, other business will be transacted which may startle the turf world a little.

The Hackensack Grand Jury handled the Fort Lee poisoning question in sweeping style. Not only were the bookmakers indicted, but it is said, that true bills have been found against the Fort Lee Ferry Company, the Western Union Telegraph Company and others.

Nine-tenths of the spectators at Gravesend yesterday thought that Herald had beaten Daily America. A head start, however, announced a dead heat. Daily America should have won. Irving's finish was not of the best. Had Herald got the decision Billy Hayward and his friends would have won a small fortune. Hayward's action in refusing to force a run-off when he saw that Daily America was lame, was most praiseworthy and sportsmanlike.

Marcus Daly, the owner of Tammany, is expected in this city to-morrow. He will wait to see the match run off.

Highland has plenty of speed, but very little heart.

Wah Jim is in great shape just now. His two wins are evidence of this fact. Sims rode Comanche with poor judgment. Had he waited the chances are that he would have been much closer up at the finish, even if he did not win.

When the Mascot Stable decide to put up a good boy on Gloaming they will get the money. Wilkins's efforts on the mare yesterday were painful to witness.

Charlie Sanders refused to allow his jockey, Nate Hill, to ride Stowaway because Dick Clark, the owner, is alleged to have said that the boy pulled his horses last Spring.

Charley Mitchell, the English pugilist, was the centre of admiring crowds at Guttenberg yesterday.

Old Salisbury is regaining his old form and will do when properly placed.

Joe T. Homan, the Western bookmaker, was a visitor at the hippodrome yesterday.

The last mile in the long race yesterday was run in 1:41.4. The whole distance, one mile, six furlongs, was negotiated in 1:47.2, which is the track record.

Sunglimes answered badly in the stretch yesterday, and it looked for a few seconds as though he would be beaten. Blake got him straight again, however, and he won easily.

The talent will scarcely care to play Henry Young at 1 to 4 again. He won yesterday, but that was all.

Gerardine has gone back wonderfully and failed to show any of her old speed yesterday.

FIGHT OVER THE COMMERCIAL.

The Organized Depositors Will Now Bring Suit.

The depositors of the Commercial Bank in Brooklyn will hold an informal meeting at Hamilton Hall, Brooklyn, to-night. C. Augustus Hamilton, President of the depositors' organization, announced this morning that the depositors would at once institute suits against the directors of the bank for the recovery of their deposits.

In opposition to this movement it was announced that the directors of the bank had formed an alliance with the depositors who had formed a similar institution on their own. The two factions have combined to fight the complaining element of the depositors.

Young Wines Arrested on a Charge of Stealing the Animal.

William P. Wines, of 211 Monroe street, Newark, N. J., who is a dealer in horses, was put under bond yesterday by Justice Gorman in Williamsburg, charged with horse-stealing. The horse was owned by Liversam David K. Wines, 402 Third avenue, Williamsburg. Wines, arrested yesterday, drove the horse, branded with the letter "C" on its forehead, from the carriage at Convent Island, and drove it to the residence of Wines, 402 Third avenue, Williamsburg.

SCHOOL IN COURT AGAIN.

He Pleads Not Guilty to a Charge of Forgery.

Lawyer William H. Schooley, who pleaded not guilty yesterday to grand larceny in the first degree, entered the same plea to a charge of forgery in the first degree, in the General Sessions Court to-day.

The first indictment charges him with the larceny of four bonds of the St. Louis and Iron Mountains Railway, valued at $1,000 each. The second count is for altering the numbers on the bonds. They were the property of Mrs. Ellen M. Gay, of Washington, D. C.

CANCELLING CERTIFICATES.

Clearing-House Retires $980,000 More To-Day.

An Advance in Stocks After a Depression in Lead.

During the first fifteen minutes of business at the Stock Exchange this morning 14,200 shares changed hands, and during the succeeding quarter of an hour only 3,800 shares.

The only incident worth mentioning this morning was a correction in the "squeeze" in Louisville & Nashville, which was referred to in yesterday's issue. The books of the company for the annual meeting close to-day, and the stock opened at 26.5. It closed at 24.5, a decline of 2 points.

Interest in the stock market increased as the day wore along. As soon as the general list showed an improving tendency, and there was an advance all along the line of 1-4 to 1-2 per cent.

The work of cancelling Clearing-House certificates goes on steadily. To-day $980,000 were retired, leaving outstanding $28,000,000. The banks are enabled to do this by the heavy receipts of currency from the West and near-by points.

Money continued to lend at 2-1/2 to 3 per cent, on call and at 5 to 6 per cent, on time.

The Sub-Treasury had a debit balance at the Clearing-House this morning of $2,000,000. The balance was as follows: $25,000 in gold coin and $12,247 in United States notes.

Foreign exchange was strong, with a marked scarcity of commercial bills. Actual rates were a little higher all around, but the market was not very active.

The Clearing-House Loan Committee cancelled $317,000 certificates to-day. Total now outstanding, $2,750,000. The stock market was improving in the late trading. One moment it looked strong and there were few stocks for sale, while at the same time the demand dropped and prices fell back again.

Towards the close a generally lower range of quotations was observed. Electric was especially weak, dropping 1-2 per cent.

Other securities were heavy. The second round dropped over 3 points to 70-1-2. Nothing has yet been done looking to a scaling of interest, an assumption in the stock. The company is paying off floating debt out of earnings, as it is enjoying a heavy world's fair business.

Officials of the company are said to be considering various plans to put the company on its feet, but will do nothing until times warrant them in bringing out a financial scheme without fear of failure.

MARCO'S STORY IN COURT.

He Formally Accuses His Sister-in-Law of Murder.

Says She Poisoned His Wife Because She Loved Him.

Joseph Marco, the Williamsburg hatter, who as told in "The Evening World" yesterday, alleges that his wife was deliberately poisoned by his sister-in-law, who was in the Lee Avenue Court again today for the purpose of securing a warrant. With him was his late wife's stepmother, Mrs. Rosenheck of this city, and her uncle and his wife.

"This woman, although the wife of my brother, was in love with me," said Marco. "Ever since her husband died, about two years ago, she was constantly made love to me, and kept it up after I was married. My wife did not object, although Rebecca kissed me in front of her. She often said she wished I was single and that she would marry me."
The widow Marco, who is accused of doing the poisoning, was seen this morning in the Lee Avenue Court again today for the purpose of securing a warrant. With her were her late husband's stepmother, Mrs. Rosenheck of this city,
and her uncle and his wife.

"I love that party-faced little fellow," she exclaimed. "Why, the very idea is ridiculous. When I marry again I want a man who has got money, brains and good looks, and my brother-in-law has all these things. I am a drunkard of the coffee that day was sick, and the others and was made very sick. Marco had better not get any more of poisoner after wife, for if any poison was put into that cup of coffee I believe he knows where it came from. He and his family are a bad lot."

Justice Gorman held the matter under advisement.
